Moving Forward with School Discipline

The discussion around school discipline can be polarizing. On one hand, advocacy groups and those committed to fairness are rightly disturbed that minority students are often expelled at three to four times the rate of their white peers. On the other hand, teachers and parents are deeply concerned about creating an out-of-control, even unsafe, environment where students can do as they please – without any real concern for consequences or repercussions.

But almost everyone agrees that students need to be in class in order to succeed academically, and that suspensions and expulsions should be as rare as possible. And almost everyone agrees that student and educator safety should be top priority.

In recent years, many schools have moved away from “zero tolerance” policies and begun implementing programs such as progressive discipline, restorative practices, Positive Behavior Interventions & Support, Responsibility-Centered Discipline, Safe & Civil Schools, Conscious Discipline and other alternative methodologies. But which of these systems actually work? And how can they be successfully implemented?

“Zero tolerance” policies are a lot easier to implement than creating a culture where students feel safe and engaged, and in the cases where students fall short of expectations, educators have a fair and constructive process to handle the situation.

The School Discipline Conference provides a forum where educators can gather information on various approaches and philosophies. It is a must-attend gathering for educators focused on improving academic performance by applying the most current innovations and research to behavior intervention and classroom management.

Featured Presenters

Dr. J. Stuart Ablon is the Director of Think:Kids in the Department of Psychiatry at Massachusetts General Hospital. He is also Associate Professor and the Thomas G. Stemberg Endowed Chair in Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School. Dr. Ablon is author of The School Discipline Fix and Changeable: The Surprising Science Behind Helping Anyone Change and co-author of Treating Explosive Kids: The Collaborative Problem Solving Approach.

Dr. Ablon received his doctorate in clinical psychology from the University of California at Berkeley and completed his training at Massachusetts General Hospital and Harvard Medical School. A dynamic and engaging speaker, Dr. Ablon was ranked #5 on the list of the world's top rated keynote speakers in the academic arena. Dr. Ablon trains parents, educators and clinicians, and helps organizations throughout the world implement the Collaborative Problem Solving approach.

Known to many as "America's Educator," Ron Clark is the 2000 Disney American Teacher of the Year, the subject of a television movie and regularly featured on network and cable television. He was dubbed by Oprah Winfrey as her first "Phenomenal Man." Early in his career, Ron pioneered innovative projects in rural

North Carolina working with minority students in a low wealth area. His highly effective programs garnered national attention and led to a White House invitation. After watching a television piece chronicling low test scores and the lack of teachers in inner-city New York, Ron packed his car and moved to Harlem. He established personal relationships and involved his students in projects in the city and state, and his "low achievers" soon began to excel; by the end of the year, their scores were higher than the "gifted" classes in his district. In 2006, Ron Clark founded The Ron Clark Academy, an inner-city school serving students from across metro Atlanta. Ron's bestsellers include The Essential 55, The End of Molasses Classes and Move Your Bus: An Extraordinary New Approach to Accelerating Success in Work and Life.

Dr. Ruby Payne is the founder of aha! Process and an author, speaker, publisher and career educator. Recognized internationally for A Framework for Understanding Poverty, her foundational book and workshop, Dr. Payne has helped students and adults of all economic backgrounds achieve academic, professional and personal success. As an expert on the mindsets of economic classes and overcoming the hurdles of poverty, she has trained hundreds of thousands of professionals – from educators to community, church and business leaders. Her other books include Under-Resourced Learners: 8 Strategies to Boost Student Achievement and the award-winning Boys in Poverty: A Framework for Understanding Dropout. Over her distinguished career, Ruby has worked as a teacher and principal, written K-12 curriculum, and assisted in strategic planning and staff development programs for multiple organizations. She aims to equip everyone she meets with the tools to write a future story full of hope.

Baruti Kafele is an award-winning principal, internationally-renowned education speaker and best-selling author. A highly-regarded urban public school educator in New Jersey, Principal Kafele distinguished himself in the classroom and as a school leader. As a middle and high school principal, he led the transformation of four different schools, including "The Mighty" Newark Tech, which went from a low-performing school to being recognized three times as one of America's best high schools by U.S. News and World Report. Principal Kafele is one of the most sought-after speakers for transforming the attitudes of at-risk students. He is the author of a number of books including Closing the Attitude Gap and Is My School a Better School Because I Lead It?

Author of Roadmap to Responsibility, Larry Thompson is often called upon to deliver keynote presentations for education conferences because of his knowledge, humor and passion for assisting today's students. Larry has served in a wide variety of roles in education – from special education teacher to coach to alternative school principal to traditional high school principal. His Responsibility-Centered Discipline program has helped thousands of educators throughout North America break away from traditional discipline programs to a sustainable model that creates a responsible climate and responsible students.

"The two most important days of your life are the day you were born, and the day you find out WHY." This quote from Mark Twain perfectly captures Dr. William Noel's personal calling and dedication to working with children. That higher calling and dedication is why Dr. Noel remains committed to being an influential role model for all students, but especially for the (sometimes) Hard-to-Reach students. Dr. Noel emphasizes the importance of connecting with those students through establishing genuine relationships, and teaching them to make better decisions. He would be the first person to debate that knowing WHO you teach may be more important than WHAT you teach. Dr. Noel began his journey in education as a substitute teacher, then as an alternative education teacher, social studies teacher, coach, assistant principal, and now district director of student support and disciplinary review. Asked if he was going to miss teaching, Dr. Noel replied, "I will always be a teacher; just no longer from a classroom."

Steph Jensen is an award-winning author and international speaker. She combines her experience in the fields of education and counseling with research, practical strategies and humor to address challenging behaviors and to build positive relationships with kids. Steph has worked as a classroom teacher, education consultant and international speaker. In recent years, she has applied her passion for adolescents to focus on the dynamics of relational aggression, social-emotional learning, and positive behavior interventions. She is the author of Thrive in the Hive and the Mom's Choice Award-winning Princess Priscilla series.
